ANOTHER POLICEMAN AT ODDS WITH THE LAW

SAN IGNACIO TOWN, Cayo, Friday, September 26, 2008:

Another policeman is today on the wrong side of the law as he stands accused of committing the crimes of attempt rape and harm.

It took all of 18 days after the initial report was lodged for the police to make the arrest. Notwithstanding however, San Ignacio police reports that on Thursday, September 25, Police Constable #1093 Cyril Casimiro, 29, was formally arrested and charged on allegations of an incident that took place on September 7,

The report against PC Casimiro, who at the time was posed as the officer in charge of the Spanish Lookout substation, is that shortly after 10:00 a.m. September 7, he visited a bar, the home and workplace of the alleged victim, in the community of Duck Run I in the Cayo District where he allegedly told the victim that a report was lodged against her at his station and that she must accompany him to the substation.

In the report to the police, the alleged victim informed that she had a misunderstanding with another female a few weeks earlier and was of the impression that it was the same report to which PC Casimiro was referring. She therefore boarded the police pickup truck driven by PC Casimiro but instead of taking her to the substation, she alleges that he took her to an unnamed street in the Spanish Lookout community where he began fondling her private parts. She alleges that he pulled down his pants and in the process exposed his

Santa Elena Pre-School Gets A Facelift

BY: Lorena Rancharan, Head Teacher, Santa Elena Community Pre-School. SANTA ELENA TOWN, Cayo District, Monday, September 29, 2008:

Whenever a community comes together the potential for great things is without limits. Such was the case this Saturday, September 27, when our pre-school building underwent a complete transformation emerging with a new paint job.

We had been discussing this particular project for many years without much success. However, the topic reemerged during a parent/teacher meeting last week. We were discussing about raising funds for the project when a parent volunteered to take on the task without the need to raise funds.

Within a few days the paint, rollers, trays and brushes were obtained; the community was brought together and today

Editorial

I Would Have Much Preferred

It was with much interest that my attention was drawn to a letter to the Editor by former Director of Public Prosecutions, Attorney Luchman Sooknandan, appearing in the September 21st edition of The Guardian Newspaper.

His opening sentence was: “Kindly publish this letter in your prestigious newspaper about my deep concern for the escalation of crime in Belize and some drastic steps that could be taken to assist in the alleviation of crime.”

Then I said to myself: At long last, we are going to get it direct from the horse’s mouth. From none other than a man who has been in the belly of the beast. A trained attorney, a man who in his own words has “served quite some time working at the Director of Public Prosecutions Office and twice as Director of Public Prosecutions”.

Imagine my disappointment when the author went into the same old song and dance. The same old tested and still failing efforts at addressing the nation’s crime problem as he delved into topics under headings like ADULT EDUCATION – EDUCATION – VOCATIONAL TRAINING – FEEDING PROGRAM – AGRICULTURE – and SPORTS all of which are ongoing projects while the nation’s crime situation keeps getting worse.

The author indicated that he has served for three years, between 1969 and 1971 as a trained teacher. However, he has served 10 times that amount of years, for well over 30 years in the legal profession. One would have therefore thought that he would have offered suggestions, from a legal point of view “to assist in the alleviation of crime”.

Quite frankly, I would have expected for an individual of his legal acumen to have recommended “some drastic steps” to plug all those legal loop holes by which the Office of Director of Prosecutions, under his watch “for quite some time” and even to date, continues to issue and increasing number of “nolle prosequi” whereby persons charged with serious crimes continue to walk free of all charges from Summary Jurisdiction and Supreme Court trials.

I would have wanted for the former Director of Public Prosecutions, who “for quite some time” handled and gave legal advice on most major case files, to recommend corrective measures that can be taken when the system is confronted with a situation like the one that took place just this week in San Ignacio’s Magistrate Court: A man, charged for the serious crimes of attempt murder, use of deadly means of harm and dangerous harm, walked out of court a free man when the magistrate dismissed all charges on the grounds that after almost two years and a dozen adjournments, “THERE WAS NO CASE FILE”. It can only boil down to one of two things: Either that an innocent man was arrested, probably for statistical purposes, and subsequently the police did not even bother to prepare a case file but instead made him languish in jail for almost 2 years since he was arrested in December 2006. Or on the other hand, the system is so flawed that by dereliction of duty or maybe even through outright corrupt means, an individual, who attempted to take the life of another human being like countless others, walked free of all charges without even as much as facing an actual trial.

I would have wanted, for example, for the former Director of Public Prosecutions to have come up with recommendations on a mechanism that could be implemented to minimize if not totally eliminate the words “NO CASE FILE” in large numbers of cases via monthly written reports reaching the Office of the Director of Public Prosecution from the various prosecutors in all towns and cities across this nation.

I would have wanted for example for the former Director of Public Prosecutions to recommend measures that can be taken to curtail the mockery of the legal system whereby magistrates are legally restricted from offering bail to accused persons for certain crimes while lawyers can turn around and secure bail for those same individuals by way of an application to the Supreme Court. None of us expect lawyers to buck this obvious mockery of the system as it opens up another income stream for them.

I would have liked for the former Director of Public Prosecutions to recommend a system by which the tracking of the payment of court fines could be efficiently organized to ensure that those who commit crimes pay the fine and that those who fail to meet that commitment are rigorously pursued until every single dime is paid.

I would have liked for the former Director of Public Prosecution to have come up with suggestions whereby victims of crimes would be compensated for the losses they incur resulting from the criminal behavior of others instead of fines going to the government coffers with nothing going to victims of crimes.

These are but a few of the things that I would have truly wanted to hear coming from the horse’s mouth, from the man who has been inside the belly of the beast, from a man with such vast legal knowledge and experience.

Unless proven wrong, I am one of those who is of the firm belief that unless we get seriously tough on crime, no amount of expenditure on ADULT EDUCATION – EDUCATION – VOCATIONAL TRAINING – FEEDING PROGRAM – AGRICULTURE – or SPORTS will ever “assist in the alleviation of crime.”

The Church Of The Nazarene Celebrating 100 Years

BY: Rev. S. Onesimo Pott
SAN IGNACIO TOWN, Cayo,
Thursday, September 25, 2008:

On October 5, 2008 the Belize Churches of the Nazarene will join 18,000 other Nazarene churches in 151 world areas to celebrate the 100th Anniversary of the founding of the Church of the Nazarene.

The celebration will take place at the Macal River Park in San Ignacio Town on October 5th beginning at 9:30 a.m.

In the country of Belize the churches are divided into zones.

The Western Zone is composed of Esperanza Village, Santa Elena Town, San Ignacio Town, San Jose Succotz Village and Benque Viejo Town.

The Church of the Nazarene has its roots in Methodism, drawn from the teachings of English Evangelist John Wesley (1703-1791). The denomination was established in October 1908 in the Pilot Point, Texas, the culmination of mergers of several like-minded groups. The mission of the Church of the Nazarene is to make Christian-like disciples in the nations.

“A century ago, the Nazarenes were an American family with relatives in other countries. Today we are an international family of districts and congregations planted on each of Earth’s inhabited continents. No single language, race, or nationality claims a majority of our members.” (Stan Ingersol, Archivist).

At the Church of the Nazarene’s Quadrennial Assembly in 2001, forty two percent of the delegates either spoke English as a second language or did not speak the language at all.

Nazarene Colleges, Universities, and Seminaries are located around the world. There are Nazarene Hospitals in Swaziland, India and Papua New Guinea.

There are seven Primary Schools in the country of Belize and a High School in Belize City. The construction of a second High School will soon begin in the Western Zone.

The church also conducts radio broadcasts in 30 languages and distributes printed materials in 103 languages worldwide.

The Nazarene family invites you to celebrate with us on Sunday, October 5 at the Macal River Park commencing at 9:30 a.m.

Food and soft drinks, at a reasonable cost, will be available at the end of the service. All our friends are invited to come and rejoice with us.

Police And The Neighborhood - On The Same Team

Prepared By Richard Meryl for the local neighborhood watch group:

The Police cannot be everywhere all the time and that's why programmes such as neighbourhood watch are so important.

Neighbourhood watch extends the ears and the eyes of the Police, but it does far more.

A neighbourhood watch programme, fully co-operating with

Police and co-ordinating efforts with Police, means the citizens of the neighbourhood and the Police are on the same team. Too often, in too many neighbourhoods, the relationship between the community, even the law-abiding people in the community, and the Police, is one of confrontation and not co-operation.

Such a situation leaves the door open for the criminal and leaves the street unsafe for everyone. When confrontation is replaced by co-operation, the street becomes safe again.

If the street in front of your home has become a danger zone, there is something you can do about it. Join a neighbourhood watch group, or get the other people on the street together and start a neighbourhood watch group.

It's worth repeating, that an effective neighbourhood watch programme will reduce crime and make a neighbourhood a safer place to live.

An effective neighbourhood watch programme, working in co-operation with the Police, will make the street a danger zone only for the criminal. This is one time when 'getting involved' is a smart idea.

Neighbourhood watch is a simple idea that works, but only if the people of the neighbourhood get involved.

LAZINESS

BY: Michael "MAX" Salazar
SANTA ELENA TOWN, Cayo,
Monday, September 29, 2008:

Some say that lazy people get the most out of life, for my part I just cannot see how this is possible.

I can't imagine not having any drive or ambition to accomplish anything, and having the desire to engage only in passive activities, always being a spectator, never acting.

Laziness, in many cases, leads to poor health, low self-esteem and lack of hope among other things.

Laziness also robs a person of that sense of accomplishment, that sense of self-worth, and self-development.

How are you going to learn anything, pick up a new skill or develop a talent if you're too lazy to get up and do something?

In Belize it is said that we are not aggressive and that we rely on foreigners teach us new skills, resulting in miniscule progress for we seem not motivated enough.

Many people are generally harsh towards lazy people. I must admit that my initial inclination towards laziness is usually judgmental.

I know however, that many people who seem to be lazy have a passive way of dealing with fears, insecurities or frustrations.

People with learning disabilities, for example, often seem lazy because of the high levels of frustration they encounter when trying to accomplish what may seem to others as simple or "Fever". After battling an illness for several months, he fell seriously ill about 2 weeks ago and never recovered until he passed away on Independence Day, September 21, 2008.

Luis August & Vicky Velasquez Laid To Rest

Luis grew up on George Price Avenue in Santa Elena. He attended Santa Elena Roman Catholic Primary School.

In caring for his own family, Luis lived in Belmopan, Belize City and finally in Esperanza village, the birthplace of his common-law-wife, Carmelita Ku.

Despite the uncertain weather conditions, quite a large number of relatives and friends turned out for the funeral service which was held on Tuesday, September 23, at Sacred Heart Church in San Ignacio Town. The spanish mass and graveside ceremony were celebrated by Fr. Lorenzo Echeverria.

He is survived by his father Modesto "Muddy" August; his mother, Hipolita "Miss Polly" Salazar August; three brothers, Jose, Artemio and Orlando August; six sisters, Azucena, Nidia, Inez, Mirna, Noemi and Diana August.

He is also survived by his common-law-wife, Carmelita Ku as well as two sons, Luis Jr. and Elroy August and a host of other relatives and tasks.

A person who's afraid of other people or of social situations may choose a passive approach to everything so that they won't have to take any risks.

A slow learner may appear to be lazy thereby shielding behind the opinion that "If I don't do the work at all, no one will criticize my performance."

Of course, no amount of excuse justifies a life without accomplishment. Nor does knowing that you're lazy, because of fear, compensate for what you miss out on in life because of your unwillingness to act.

The key to dealing with laziness is taking action, and the key to taking action is finding the motivation to get up and do something meaningful.

What do we do, though, when a person simply resist motivation?

What do we do about the person at work who isn't willing to do his or her share of the task at hand?

What do we do about the student who doesn't do the homework because he or she prefers to lie around, talking on the cell phone or watching TV?

Are the Belizean people ready to face those conditions that cause laziness?

Is this why we fail to accomplish goals in Belize?

Could this be the reason why those so called "foreigners" are taking over?

Your response would be most appreciated to maxbze@yahoo.com friends.

In the second instance, we likewise record the passing of Ms. Victoria "Vicky" Velasquez, 69; also of Santa Elena, Cayo, who passed away on Monday, September 22.

Miss Vicky is survived by her children Maria, Guadalupe, Elida, Ernesto, Hector and Rosita. She is also survived by one sister, Juanita Sarceno; six brothers, Jesus, Tomas, Larry, Peter, Gertrudes and Julian Velasquez.

She is predeceased by her father, Mr. Moises Velasquez and her mother Ms. Mary Bradley as well as one sister, Laura Puc and two brothers, Martin and George Velasquez.

The funeral service for Ms. Victoria Velasquez was held on Tuesday, September 23 at St. Ignatius Church in Santa Elena. The mass and graveside ceremony were celebrated by Fr. James Foley.

The two funerals met at the Carmen Memorial Cemetery in Santa Elena with the laying to rest of Ms. Vicky and Luis August a few feet from each other.

We join the community in expressing deepest sympathies to the August and the Velasquez families at the passing of their loved ones. We pray for the eternal resting of their souls.

This Situation Really Bothers Me

Dear Editor;

Thank you for the opportunity to share this concern with readers of the STAR Newspaper.

Hardly any of us can dispute the fact that the Mennonite community in Spanish Lookout contributes significantly to the local as well as to the national economy and for this we must acknowledge them.

However, it must be cause for concern when reports like the following three cases begin to surface:

1) A friend, whose son is a rising Star in the sport of cycling, informed that one day his son's training took him to do the rounds on the Spanish Lookout road in the area near Iguana Creek and the Belize Natural Energy compound. It did not take long for father and son to be approached by a group of Mennonite men who instructed them to "stop using our road for training". Although somewhat surprised by the demand, the father and son has since not returned to the area.

2) Recently, in the spirit of the September celebrations, students from the Buena Vista Primary School were barred from parading on the main street in Spanish Lookout.

3) Leaders in the community have instructed the police that they do not want any Police check point mounted in any street in "their" community.

4) It is a common occurrence to see under aged Mennonite drivers dashing about on the streets in

A Crime Free September Celebration and Large Parade

Dear Editor;

Our Independence Day parade in the twin towns of San Ignacio and Santa Elena was one of biggest I have seen in several years.

Despite the threat of mass violence, as was the case with the throwing of a grenade during the September 6, carnival road march in Belize City, the people of San Ignacio, Santa Elena and surrounding communities came out in large numbers to attend the official ceremony on Independence

Day. They lined the streets and participated in the colorful and huge parade.

I must commend the people for keeping the peace as the celebrations was free of any major crime and violence.

I must also commend the police, under the command of Senior Superintendent of Police Paul Wade, for the fantastic job they did in keeping the peace. Long live Belize!!

Spanish Lookout.

I believe that it is high time for residents of this community to understand that times have changed since they first moved into these lands in the 1950's.

Until another road is constructed, the Spanish Lookout Road, for all intents and purposes, is a public road as it is the only thoroughfare by which access can be gained to those communities that have since developed beyond Spanish Lookout.

Furthermore, over the past few months in particular, the police have had to mount several serious operations in the area. What a hindrance it would be if the nation's law enforcement authorities are obstructed from carrying out their anti-crime operations within that community.

An increasing number of customers from surrounding communities frequently travel to Spanish Lookout for the procurement of goods and services. Should their lives, and the lives of their families, be endangered by under-aged/inexperienced drivers using the same road?

While most of us, including the powers that be, are repeatedly encouraging the young people to take up a sport instead of turning to a life of drugs, crime and violence, Spanish Lookout is banning an athlete with great potential from

This situation really troubles me as it bears semblance of the first stage of the Balkanization of our nation.

This is a matter which, in my humble opinion, is deserving of immediate attention.

Heavy Rains Eroded A Section Of The Santa Familia/Spanish Lookout Road

SAN IGNACIO TOWN, Cayo District, Friday, September 26, 2008:

Local NEMO Coordinator, Alhenry Westby today informed that the heavy rainfall on Thursday night resulted in the washing away of a large section of the roadway between the western communities of Santa Familia and Spanish Lookout.

He informed that the National Emergency Management Organization (NEMO) through the efforts of the Ministry of Works was able to activate a by-pass thereby reopening the link between the two communities.

Westby additionally informed that the Ministry of Works is now charged with the responsibility to replace the culverts and repair the damaged roadway so that life in the area can return to normal.

I Know The Whole Truth

At school, Joe's classmate told him that most adults are hiding at least one dark secret, and that this makes it very easy to blackmail them by saying, "I know the whole truth."

Joe decides to go home and try it out.

As he enters the house and is greeted by his mother. Then Joe says, "I know the whole truth."

His mother quickly hands him $20 and says, "Just don't tell your father."

Quite pleased with the quick cash, Joe waits for his father to get home from work and greets him with, "I know the whole truth."

The father promptly hands him $40 and says, "Please don't say a word to your mother."

Even more pleased, Joe is on his way to school the next morning, when he meets the gardener at the front door.

He greets the gardener saying, "I know the whole truth."

The gardener drops the water hose, opens his arms, and says, "Then come give your father a big hug."

Eating Some Peanuts

There was an old man whose family could no longer afford to take care of him. So the family decided that a nursing home for the aged would be appropriate.

Of course the old man rejected the idea, but no sooner he was convinced that it was the right thing to do. On his first day at the home, he spent most of his time laying in bed reflecting on life, feeling lonely. A while later, an orderly stopped by to see

She noticed a bowl full of peanuts sitting on top of the table next to the bed, and helped herself to a handful.

I have to tend to other people here too."* "That's okay.", said the old man, "I feel so much better being able to talk to someone." Looking into the bowl the orderly said, "I feel awful! I ate almost all of your peanuts!" The old man responded, "That's okay. Ever since I got these false teeth, all I could do was suck the chocolate off of them anyhow."

Bathroom Troubles

Three old men are sitting on the porch of a retirement home. The first says, "Fellas, I got real problems. I'm seventy years old. Every morning at seven o'clock I get up and I try to urinate. All day long I try to urinate. They give me all kinds of medicine but nothing helps."

The second old man says, "You think you have problems. I'm

Finally the third old man speaks up, "Fellas: I'm ninety years old. Every morning at 7:00 sharp I urinate. Every morning at 8:00 I move my bowels. Every morning at 9:00 sharp I wake up."

A Message To All Women

Do Your Pap Smear Today, Tomorrow May be Too Late

BY: Dr. Guillermo Rivas, Obstetrician & Gynecologist, San Ignacio Hospital
SAN IGNACIO TOWN, Cayo District, Friday, September 26, 2008:

PAP smear (Papanicolau) is a quick test that Doctor, Nurse or Health Care Workers, can do in the office and help them find abnormal cells before cancer develops.

Cancer of the cervix is the most common cancer among women in Central America. The cervix is the lower narrow part of the uterus (womb) which can be seen and examined through a vaginal examination.

Normally, cells grow and divide to form new cells, as the body needs them. When the cells grow old, they die and new cells take their place. Sometimes, this process goes wrong. New cells form when the body does not need them and old cells do not die when they should. These extra cells can form a mass of tissue called abnormal growth or tumor.

Cell from malignant tumors can invade and damage nearby tissues and organs. Also, some of them can spread to other parts of the body (metastase), far from the original tumor using the bloodstream or lymphatic system as channels of dissemination.

We do not know why the cancer appears. We know some risk factors strongly related with cervical cancer, most of them linked with our sexual behavior.

The early onset of sexual life (before 17), multiple sexual partners, sexual transmitted diseases such as Human Papilloma Virus infection and a weakened immune system, are some of the factors present in most of the patients with Cervical Cancer.

The following are some life style changes that help to prevent Cervical Cancer: a) Abstinence from sexual encounter until adulthood, b) Monogamous relationship and c) annual medical checkup including a Pap smear.

The Pap smear can help the doctor find abnormal cells before cancer develops. Also, screening (doing Pap-smears regularly) can help to find cancer early when the treatment is more likely to be effective.

Hugo Chavez Eyes Set On Russia For Nuclear Power

Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez says he wants to develop a civilian nuclear power programme with Russia's help.

Chavez emphasised that he wanted nuclear power only for peaceful ends, citing energy and medical purposes.

His remarks follow last week's comments by Russian PM Vladimir Putin that Moscow was ready to consider nuclear co-operation with Venezuela.

Such a move would be likely to increase US concerns at the growing ties between the two nations, correspondents say.

Venezuelan President
Hugo Chavez

"We certainly are interested in developing nuclear energy, for peaceful ends of course, for medical purposes and to generate electricity," Chavez told a political rally in Caracas.

"Brazil has various nuclear reactors, as does Argentina. We will have ours and Vladimir told the media: Russia is ready to help Venezuela develop nuclear energy for peaceful ends," he said, adding that a commission was already working on the issue.

President Chavez was speaking after a global tour last week that included a stop in Russia.

During his visit, Mr. Chavez signed accords on energy co-operation with his Russian counterpart, Dimitry Medvedev.

Mr. Putin also indicated that Russia "was ready to consider the possibility" of working with Venezuela to build nuclear power facilities.

Russia and Venezuela have been increasing their ties in recent months. Russian warships are currently en route to the Caribbean Sea for joint exercises with the Venezuelan navy.

Venezuela is one of the best customers of the Russian defence industry, signing weapons contracts worth some $4.4bn (£2.39bn).

A staunch critic of the US, Hugo Chavez backed Russian intervention in Georgia and has accused Washington of being scared of Moscow's "new world potential".
